Course Description & Goals

This course provides an opportunity for individual students to conduct research in a specific area of study, completed under the direction of a faculty mentor.

The primary objective of this course is to provide hands-on and authentic experience with the scientific research process.

LEARNING OUTCOMES are to:

1. Use analysis programs such as R and ImageJ
2. Hone your writing skills
3. Read and synthesize relevant and contemporary literature
4. Adopt a reproducible workflow for this and future research projects
5. Communicate your scientific knowledge in meaningful and effective ways
6. Overcome challenges inherent in scientific research

GRADES in this class will be more closely tied to your growth and development as a researcher in the following areas than they will be towards specific tasks or competencies.

The format of this class will be a collaborative and iterative writing format. Beginning October 6, your responsibility will be to have new material (at least 100 new words, or at least 200 edited words) prepared in the manuscript by every Sunday at 11pm.

Emma will add an additional 100 new words or 200 edited words by Tuesday night at 11pm. My responsibility will then be to have read, commented on, and/or edited the new material by Thursday at 11pm. This collaborative writing will be managed through the RStudio/GitHub reproducible framework.

By the end of the semester, I expect you to have accomplished the following:

- Calculate surface areas of every leaf measured with Li-COR
- Draft the introduction, methods, results, and discussion of our research manuscript in Ecology format.

Attendance Policy

Regular attendance and participation in class is critical to your success at Concordia College. Because any absence, excused or unexcused, detracts from the learning experience, you are expected to be present during the scheduled course time. However, I also understand that you are an advanced learner capable of balancing your personal schedule, coursework, and research. As such, I trust you to make up the requisite research hours if you are absent during scheduled course times.

Accommodations for Students with Disabilities

In accordance with the Americans with Disabilities Act, Concordia College and your instructor are committed to making reasonable accommodations to assist individuals with documented disabilities to reach their academic potential. Such disabilities include, but are not limited to, learning or psychological disabilities, or impairments to health, hearing, sight, or mobility. If you believe you require accommodations for a disability that may impact your performance in this course, you must schedule an appointment with Disability Services to determine eligibility. Students are then responsible for giving instructors a letter from Disability Services indicating the type of accommodation to be provided; please note that accommodations will not be retroactive. The Disability Services office is in Old Main 109A, phone 218-299-3514; cobbernet.cord.edu/directories/offices-services/counseling-center-and-disability-services/disability/

Respect for Diversity

It is my intent that students from diverse backgrounds and perspectives be well-served by this course, and that the diversity that students bring to this class be viewed as a resource. Please let me know ways to improve the effectiveness of the course for you, personally, or for other students or student groups. As a student in this class, you are required to treat other members of the class with respect and kindness. Disrespectful, rude, or exclusive behavior will not be tolerated.
