Course Description & Goals

This course provides an opportunity for individual students to conduct research in a specific area of study, completed under the direction of a faculty mentor.

The primary objective of this course is to provide hands-on and authentic experience with the scientific research process.

LEARNING OUTCOMES are to:

1. Understand basic approaches and assumptions underlying meta-analysis
2. Design meta-analysis to systematically and thoroughly include all relevant literature
3. Use analysis programs such as R
4. Read and synthesize relevant and contemporary literature
5. Adopt and follow a reproducible workflow for statistical analysis
6. Overcome challenges inherent in scientific research and analysis

GRADES in this class will be more closely tied to your growth and development as a statistician in the following areas than they will be towards specific tasks or competencies.

The format of this class will be a mixture of introductory lectures, collaborative meetings, independent reading assignments, and analysis in program R.

By the end of the semester, I expect you to have accomplished the following assignments:

- Stats from Scratch Tutorials
- Literature search and compilation
- Data entry, organization and processing
- Preliminary data analysis and conclusions

Attendance Policy

Regular attendance and participation in class is critical to your success at Concordia College. Because any absence, excused or unexcused, detracts from the learning experience, you are expected to be present during the scheduled course time. However, I also understand that you are an advanced learner capable of balancing your personal schedule, coursework, and research. As such, I trust you to make up the requisite hours if you are absent during scheduled course times.

Accommodations for Students with Disabilities

In accordance with the Americans with Disabilities Act, Concordia College and your instructor are committed to making reasonable accommodations to assist individuals with documented disabilities to reach their academic potential. Such disabilities include, but are not limited to, learning or psychological disabilities, or impairments to health, hearing, sight, or mobility. If you believe you require accommodations for a disability that may impact your performance in this course, you must schedule an appointment with Disability Services to determine eligibility. Students are then responsible for giving instructors a letter from Disability Services indicating the type of accommodation to be provided; please note that accommodations will not be retroactive. The Disability Services office is in Old Main 109A, phone 218-299-3514; cobbernet.cord.edu/directories/offices-services/counseling-center-and-disability-services/disability/

Respect for Diversity

It is my intent that students from diverse backgrounds and perspectives be well-served by this course, and that the diversity that students bring to this class be viewed as a resource. Please let me know ways to improve the effectiveness of the course for you, personally, or for other students or student groups. As a student in this class, you are required to treat other members of the class with respect and kindness. Disrespectful, rude, or exclusive behavior will not be tolerated.

Academic Integrity (from Student Handbook)

“The Concordia community expects all of our members to act with integrity—to act with honesty, uprightness and sincerity. Every member of our academic community is charged with the responsibility of encouraging and maintaining an environment of academic integrity.

“Academic misconduct is defined as any activity that comprises the academic integrity of the college or undermines the educational process. Academic misconduct includes but is not limited to cheating, plagiarism, falsification, facilitation, or impeding.

Concordia College has university-wide policies about academic integrity, and all students are responsible for being familiar with and adhering to them. These policies are in place to protect students, first and foremost. My role as instructor is to teach each of my students how to become responsible scholars. As a student at Concordia College and as a student in this class, you are expected to fully and properly acknowledge the work of others. Every instance of plagiarism will be reported, as per the policies of the college, but please do not hesitate to ask me for clarification in advance.
